

INSTITUTE FOR GLOBAL ANALYTICS

ИНСТИТУТ ЗА ГЛОБАЛНИ АНАЛИЗИ

Job Opportunity: Analyst

The Institute for Global Analytics is seeking to hire an Analyst to support IGA's ongoing work on Russian media influence in Bulgaria and the wider Central and East European region:

- The position is part-time, based on a competitive salary, for the duration of one year with the possibility of extension.
- Key responsibilities will include the provision of research support (including media analysis and editing); administrative assistance for event organization; development of communications and outreach.
- The job can be conducted either remotely or in IGA's office with a start date immediately upon candidate approval in late September/early October 2022.

Requirements:

- A BA or higher degree in a social science discipline (politics/international relations/history/area studies, etc.).
- Knowledge of the politics, economies and societies of Central and Eastern Europe. Prior work experience or research in the field of media and disinformation.
- Excellent English-language proficiency; ability to communicate clearly and persuasively, particularly in written form. Knowledge of Russian or another Slavic language would be an advantage.
- Excellent time management skills, capacity to combine tasks and strictly observe deadlines.

How to apply:

- Please send a CV, one-page motivation letter and a writing sample to Dr. Rumena Filipova at rfilipova@globalanalytics-bg.org by September 15, 2022, 12 pm EEST. Direct any questions about this job offer to the same email address. Selected candidates will be invited to an interview, which will take place online or in-person in Sofia (depending on the candidate's location).

+359 887 760 787

info@globalanalytics-bg.org

<https://www.globalanalytics-bg.org>

InstituteForGlobalAnalytics

<https://www.linkedin.com/company/79841057>